

How to access community and residential alcohol and drug support in North Ayrshire

Anyone in North Ayrshire seeking support with an alcohol or drug problem can access a range of community and residential treatment and care options which best supports their individual recovery journey. The North Ayrshire Drug and Alcohol Recovery Service (NADARS) is an integrated health and social care service and anyone can refer to this service - individuals, families, carers, primary care, prison or any support service. Additional support is available from the Turning Point Scotland, Prevention, Early Intervention and Recovery (PEAR) Service. Residential detoxification and shorter term rehabilitation support is available to all residents of Ayrshire and Arran within Ward 5, Irvine.

Individuals seeking to access external Residential Rehabilitation (RR) support can do so via NADARS who will support the development of a care plan, identify a RR Provider, seek funding and then support individuals into, through and after their external RR placement.
